2. Whereas there are bakeries in this city which work only by day and others which half a day and half a night, therefore, Resolved, That all the work in the bakereries shall be done at day-time and that the bosses be requested to propose plans so that no interruption shall take place and no damage be caused to the business.

3. Whereas, The Baker Bosses of Springfield had resolved in a former meeting to sell bread at five cents a loaf, but which resolution was made by the refusal of one member, so that bread sold as heretofore three for ten cents, therefore, Resolved, That the price of five cents a loaf shall be introduced as soon as possible, as time and labor will be saved, and the bosses will not suffer any losses by it.

4. Resolved, That these resolutions and rules shall take effect thirty days after their adoption, and that the committee shall personally come to the bosses one week after these resolutions were sent to them to receive the lists, and further resolved that those bosses who refuse to sign the list shall state so and also which resolutions they oppose and which not, and all bosses who agree with it shall give an af-

A bank will do business on a basis of s per cent. and get rich, a merchant will try business on the idea of 25 to 50 per cent. and fail. Why? The bank does a strictly cash business. The merchant lets Tom. Dick and Harry take his goods out and put it on the books or on a ticket in the drawer. You would not think of asking a bank to let you take out ten or fifteen dollars and ina day or two return what you did not use. The famous one-price cash Arcade boot and John T.
